COPYRIGHT

When you buy a photography, you allowed using it. It means to private use, and if you publish it, you must write who took the photography. The easiest way is to use the small pictures with my logo on. Those you will receive together with the full frame pictures.

The photography must not be given to others, or published without photographers name on it.

If you wish to give a photography as a gift, please write it when you order, so the right user can come on my list.

You are always welcome to ask questions, or read the law about copyright.
